

Dr. Byeong Hwa Jeon Biography

Currently, Dr. Jeon is an Associate Professor in the School of Public Health at the University of Alberta. He received his BSc in Food Science and Technology from Seoul National University in South Korea, MSc in Food Science and Biotechnology from Lind University in Sweden, and PhD in Veterinary Medical Sciences from the University of Tokyo in Japan. His research focuses on food safety particularly to investigate how foodborne pathogens may survive under stress conditions in food production and processing. Also, he works on antibiotic resistance in foodborne pathogens.