

Wayne Adams

Wayne Adams has been the Executive Director of Canadian Organic Growers (COG) since 2015. Wayne is a graduate of the University of Ottawa with an Honours Degree in Finance. After graduation he joined one of Canada's largest insurance companies to work in financial management and eventually became the Director of Marketing. He joined the charitable sector in 2007 to be part of a multi-year effort to raise funds for a new museum in Ottawa. After its successful completion, Wayne worked for the international health care charity Orbis Canada and as a consultant for Ottawa based non-profits. Wayne is proud of COG's achievements, both before and during his time at COG, and is looking forward to being part of the important role COG will be playing in the future.
