

Stephen Fields

Stephen Fields has been the Communications Coordinator at the Windsor-Essex Catholic District School Board since June of 2014. His responsibilities include public relations, marketing and promotions, and media relations. Prior to joining the school board he spent seven years as a Research Communications Officer in the department of Public Affairs and Communications at the University of Windsor, where his role was to gain media attention for faculty and student research initiatives. A graduate of the University of Windsor's English Department and the Journalism Department at St. Clair College, he has worked for several newspapers and other publications throughout southwestern Ontario.
